

TODD DOWD

Todd Dowd was born on December 1963 in Listowel, Ontario, where he grew up on his family's dairy farm. In 1982 Todd went to the University of Waterloo and from there he went on to join the Canadian Air force, where he was stationed in many different parts of North America. When he was stationed in Denver, Colorado in 1992 he picked up the idea of raising Bison, while researching this idea he tried bison at several restaurants and loved the product. In 1993 he bought his first calves, and has expanded his herd over the years. Currently he has 40 cows on 254 acres near Lion's Head Ontario. He was an OBA director form 1993-1997, 2004-present, combined 8 years, and served as the OBA president in the 1990's. Also he has been a CBA director from 1994-1996 and 2004-present. Todd, Charlene and their daughter Lillie reside on their farm, Cape Chin Bison, which is located on the Bruce Peninsula.
