

Terry Kremeniuk

Terry Kremeniuk received his BSc. in Agriculture from the University of Alberta in 1971 and his Masters in Business Administration from the University of British Columbia in 1976. After retiring from a successful career in the financial services industry in 2003, Terry became the Executive Director of the Canadian Bison Association.

Terry is a strong believer in partnerships and working together to achieve common goals. Since he joined the CBA, with the support of the Board and membership, he has provided leadership to increase the profile of the bison industry domestically and globally. He has continually ensured that the interests of the bison industry are reflected in domestic and international policy discussions whether it be trade, marketing, or bison conservation. He has improved the bison industry data collection process to support industry decision-making, enhanced communication with stakeholders, and has worked to ensure a strong financial foundation for the CBA.

In 2012 Terry received the Myrt Lenton Memorial Award which recognizes members of the Canadian Bison Association who have worked for and aided in the promotion of the Canadian Bison Industry and the Canadian Bison Association.

Terry and his wife Sharon live in Regina and have three grown children and three grandchildren.
